

TOHO Wins “IR Good Visual Award” for High-Impact Investor Presentation Materials

TOHO Co., Ltd., a leading Japanese entertainment company known for Godzilla and popular anime, is pleased to announce that it has received the “IR Good Visual Award” for the first time. The award is presented by the IR Good Visual Award Executive Committee (organized by Value Create Inc. and the Japan Investor Relations Association).

The “IR Good Visual Award” recognizes individual slides from IR materials that effectively communicate a company’s corporate value on a single page. In its 13th year, TOHO was selected as one of only seven winning companies out of 69 applicants. The award-winning slide encapsulates TOHO’s sincere commitment to enhancing information disclosure and deepening stakeholder engagement.

Currently, TOHO is accelerating its IR activities in both quality and quantity, prioritizing meaningful dialogue with shareholders and investors. The winning slide quantitatively visualizes these shifts—tracking changes in financial results presentations and the frequency of IR meetings—to demonstrate the company’s proactive stance. The judges highly commended TOHO for its proactive dedication to improving IR transparency, its ability to communicate internal change through a clear and impactful visual narrative, and its innovative “challenging spirit” in exploring new ways to present corporate progress.

TOHO takes the feedback received during the evaluation process—including suggestions for further enhancing visibility—with the utmost seriousness. Moving forward, the company remains dedicated to creating IR materials with even greater depth and clarity.

TOHO welcomes requests for IR meetings regarding quarterly results or long-term growth strategies. Please feel free to contact us if you wish to request an IR meeting. We welcome the opportunity to discuss our performance and strategies with you.
